

My Friends by Kieto Aoyama

My friends, the journey we shared
In this journey filled with many stars
Friends are like those glimmers lights
One in a thousand, yet I found you
From this, our bond is forever
No one else can be compared Like words carved in stones

A friend is a story to be discovered
With each chapter filled with wonders
A friend can make you cry yet they make you feel the fullest
A friend helps you through hard time
They are the one you can share thoughts
A friend is so special!
They can make the world colorful
