

Carpe diem by Yuuka Murai

Time passes by so fast
All the plans already in past
Sometimes I wonder about this story of mine
What will be written on the last line
I don't know why my story started
All I know is I need to keep the story going Filling in the blanks
Learn something new till the day that I die
Treasure every moment
Every moment's a treasure that cannot be replaced
The reason to live tomorrow
To live to the fullest, with no regrets
Not to dwell on the past
To live in the moment
To stop trying to change others
But to try to change ourselves
Every choice opens a new chapter
My life is my own story to write